RESEARCH AND STUDY AWARDS RAFAEL TERMES CARRERÓ – 2026

(XI edition)

Fundació Catalana d'Analistes Financers, with the aim of stimulating and recognising the research and study effort within the professional activity scope of the financial analyst, annually calls the “Research and Study Awards Rafael TERMES CARRERÓ” (hereinafter referred to as “the Awards”).

RULES OF THE AWARDS

Rule 1. CALL AND PERIODICITY OF THE AWARDS:

The Awards shall be called yearly, within the terms and in the conditions set forth in these rules.

Rule 2. PARTICIPANTS:

One or more individuals jointly may opt for the Awards. In the case of several authors, the author of reference of the study shall be identified. Each person may only submit one work, both if done individually or as a group.

Rule 3. SUBJECTS OF THE RESEARCH OR STUDY:

- a) The subjects of the works that are the object of investigation and study (hereinafter “the works”) must refer to the scope of professional action of the financial analyst, which is delimited by the following considerations that the social legitimacy of the financial analyst is executed to the extent that finance is in the service of the society and appropriately serves non-financial companies and families.
- b) Committed and responsible behaviour, as well as good practice of the financial analyst in channelling savings towards investment, through financial institutions and markets are today, more than ever, a key factor to economic development,

- c) The role of financial analysts goes beyond the allocation of financial resources traditionally based on the fundamental analysis of “value” and other aspects related to economics and finance.
- d) Currently, the functions of the financial analyst include, among others, the monitoring of financial stability, the proper use of public resources and the quality of corporate governance. Accordingly, financial analysis, based on the economic and financial has been complemented by the consideration of the political and ethical dimensions, including the social and environmental, and the mutual interdependence between these dimensions.

Rule 4. ASSESSMENT CRITERIA OF THE WORKS:

The Jury of the Awards shall assess the works taking into account the following aspects:

- a) The works must be addressed to professionals from the world of finance, taking any of the areas detailed in Rule 3 above as the field of study.
- b) The appropriate combination of accuracy in the analysis, clarity in the presentation and application of the study to the professional practice of the financial analyst.
- c) In the event that the work originates from an article or study with character of an academic paper, it must be adapted to the criteria of point (b) above. The writing style must be understandable to a professional finance practitioner, so that it is useful to increase their knowledge or improve their decision making.
- d) The relevance of the subject of study and the possible impact and repercussion that the study may have for the financial analyst profession and society. The works can be directed to new findings in the financial world or to disclosing previously unknown topics of relevance.
- e) The subject studied is focused, or may have significant impact, on the geographical environment of Europe and/or Latin America.

Rule 5. CONTENTS AND FORMAT OF THE STUDY:

Works shall have the following characteristics:

- Be an original or new work.
- Be in Spanish, Catalan or English.

The contents of the work to be submitted shall include:

- a) On the first page: the title of the study, without mentioning the name of the author(s) and an abstract of a maximum of 250 words summarizing the objectives and contents of the study.
- b) An executive summary, with a maximum of 1,500 words, identifying the objectives, methodology and the main conclusions reached in the study, indicating the original contributions compared to previous works and, where applicable, explaining how AI has been used in the preparation of the study.
- c) The study, which shall have between 5,000 and 10,000 words, excluding the table of contents, statistical appendixes, information tables and bibliographic references which may be attached to the work as attachments.

The work shall be submitted, with the contents described above, in a *.pdf format file. Together, a second *.pdf format file shall be submitted, containing the following information: title of the study, name(s) of the author(s) (indicating, if more than one author, the person of reference), postal address, telephone, email, ID document, as well as a brief curriculum of the author(s) of the research or study.

Rule 6. TERMS AND DEADLINE TO SUBMIT THE STUDY:

The two files described above in point five hereof shall be jointly sent by email. The name of the first file (which includes the work anonymously without mentioning the authors) shall consist of four numbers and one letter (for example, 4321f.pdf). The name of the second file (which includes the contact details of the authors) shall have the same numbers and letter of the first but include “-Authors” (following the previous example, 4321f-Autores.pdf).
